Blood and/or urine samples may be drawn at any time throughout the qualification, nomination and quarantine / staging camp periods. Samples may be tested for the presence of substances identified by the FEI as both forbidden and/or controlled. Positive test results from samples collected during FEI competition will result in a zero (0) score for that athlete/horse combination in all classes at that competition. Athletes and owners are responsible and accountable for all positive testing results.
- ii. Assessment: An assessment for soundness and serviceability for competition will be conducted on all nominated horses including alternates, by the Team Veterinarian prior to the departure of the horses for the 2024 OG. Assessments will examine the overall soundness and serviceability for competition with consideration of the cause and prognosis of any recognized unsoundness. Following the final assessments, the Team Veterinarian shall provide a report to the HPAG either in person or via conference call. In the event a nominated horse is found to be unfit or unsound during assessment, they may be re-presented within a 24-hr period for re-assessment. Should the horse be unable to proceed to the 2024 OG, the HPAG will remove the horse based on Section 4.1 Substitutions below.
- iii. Communication: Throughout the nomination process, observations and concerns identified by the Team Veterinarian will be communicated orally or in writing to the athlete of the horse in question, and to the HPAG. The onus will be upon the athlete to take any necessary action to follow the recommendations of the Team Veterinarian.

In the event of such unforeseen circumstances the HPAG will determine if the circumstances justify competition or nomination should take place in an alternative manner. In such circumstances, the HPAG shall communicate the alternative selection or nomination process to all declared athletes as soon as possible.

- 3.3.9 Should Appendix 1, Section 3.3.6 above not be achieved, nomination of a team or nomination of individual athlete / horse combinations to the COC for the 2024 OG will be subject to the decision and approval of the HPAG in consultation with the DHP and the DM, and in accordance with these qualification and nomination procedures and the Regulations for the 2024 OG.

7. MUSIC REQUIREMENTS

- 7.1 As an athlete using music in your routine, you need to respect the legal rights in the music used. This applies to any sports discipline where music is a core element, such as artistic and rhythmic gymnastics, figure skating, synchronized swimming and dressage. If you are a parent or guardian of a child athlete using music, please read this guidance carefully on your child's behalf.
<https://olympics.com/athlete365/games-time/music-in-sport/>
- 7.2 The music that you use during your routine may well be protected by copyright. The writers and performers of the composition, together with the person that recorded it, may well have legal rights in the music – even if the music seems to be in the public domain.
- 7.3 As such, the music rights-holders are usually entitled to be paid for your use of the music. So, if the music is used without their permission and without payment of the relevant royalties, that would usually infringe their rights.
- 7.4 The first step is to obtain a copy of the music from a reliable and lawful source, such as a CD shop or legitimate online store (or the actual record producer direct if you have commissioned the music). You then need to provide details of the music to the organizer of the sporting competition.
- 7.5 For the right permission to be obtained from the music rights-holders (and for them to be paid the relevant royalties), it is critical that you provide the correct details of the music to the organiser.
- 7.6 The organiser is responsible for providing this information to the relevant collecting management organisations – known as “CMOs”. If the event is broadcast on television or online, the broadcasters need to receive this information too, as they also need to provide it to CMOs. Based on this information, the CMOs can then collect any relevant royalties from the organiser and broadcasters and distribute the royalties to the music rights-holders.

7.7 To identify the music effectively, you need to provide the following information by July 3rd, 2024, see Appendix 6:

7.7.1 Track list: list all music tracks that you are using, following the order of your routine (including warm-up tracks, if any).

7.7.2 Track details: for each track, please provide the following details:

- a) Title: state the full title of the track, as given in the track list of the record.
- b) Duration: confirm the length of the track as used in your routine (minutes and seconds).
- c) Artist(s): provide the name(s) of the singer, band, orchestra or other artist who performed the track.
- d) Record label: give the name of the record label (or, if none, the name of the record producer).
- e) Year of release: state the year of the track's first release to the public (or, if unreleased, the year it was produced).
- f) Writer(s): indicate the name(s) of the writer(s) of the composition/lyrics.
- g) Arranger(s): if the original composition has been altered, state the name(s) of the arranger(s) (or, if none, "N/A").
- h) Publisher(s): confirm the publisher(s) of the composition (or, if none, state "copyright control").
- i) Special commission: indicate if the track was specially commissioned by you (yes/no).

7.8 You can obtain it from the packaging of the CD containing the music, or from the information appearing in the online music store where you obtained the music (which should also be embedded in the digital data for a download file). For tips on where to look, please refer to the examples set out on the ITUNES and CD pages of this website.
